12 Lose Lives In Hotel Fire

Hotel in Macon, Ga., Destroyed by Fire After Blast of Chemicals.

TWO BODIES RECOVERED
Other Buildings Threatened by Fire—Hotel Guests in Confusion.

By United Press Leased Wire.
Macon, Ga.—Belief grew Monday as firemen played streams of water on the smoldering ruins of the Brown house, that 12 lives were lost when that hostelry was destroyed by fire early Monday.

Two unidentified bodies were recovered on the second floor.

John W. Hays, 60, died from injuries received when he leaped from a third story window.

Nine others were reported missing by the police, according to an announcement made at noon. It is feared that they are buried under tons of heated brick and other debris.

Eight persons, some seriously injured, are in the hospital. Many others suffered minor injuries.

The fire started from an explosion of chemicals in a drug store next to the hotel. The blast shook the entire city.

The stairs and elevators of the hotel were destroyed with the blast and men and women leaped from windows.

Many guests in hotel.

Between 100 and 150 guests were at the hotel at the time of the explosion. Horace Woods, clerk, could make no estimate of the exact number.

Men and women rushed from the burning building in their night clothes.

Every fire apparatus in the city fought the flames which spread to other buildings, threatening half of a city block.

Greatest confusion followed the blast. Men and women rushed from their rooms to the exits to find them destroyed by the explosion. They then turned to the stairs and found them blazing. Desperately they jumped from second and third story windows, many being injured.

MINISTER IS HELD FOR SLAYING WIFE

Accused Pastor Blames Financial Troubles for Charges Against Him.

By United Press Leased Wire.
Lakewood, Calif.—The Rev. Jno. A. Spencer, former Presbyterian minister at Fulton, Sonoma county, Calif., will be placed under formal arrest Monday charged with the killing of his wife, who formerly was Miss Emma Morris of Dayton, Ohio. It was announced at the sheriff's office here early Monday.

San Jose, Calif.—Quarrels over money were blamed Monday by the Rev. John A. Spencer, Santa Rosa minister, held in jail here while authorities investigated the death of his wife.

Mrs. Spencer was drowned while boating with her husband at Clear Lake, Calif., several days ago, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury. But the body was exhumed and an autopsy performed, the findings of which have not been announced.

While prison workers sang hymns in the city jail yard, Rev. Spencer told his side of the story.

He charged that a woman with whom he and his wife boarded for a time had been "scooped" by him after they had had trouble over a board bill.

"It's a scorned woman burning for revenge," he declared.

He charged the woman had furnished the authorities with the circumstantial evidence against him.

He then declared trouble he had with Dr. Charles Craig, the autopsy surgeon, over a doctor bill. "This he declared, caused him to believe Dr. Craig was anxious to see him prosecuted.

ARREST FOUR AS MEMBERS OF BIG CONFIDENCE GANG

By United Press Leased Wire.
Chicago, Ill.—Four alleged members of the Worthington gang, believed to have operated a million dollar stock swindle, were trapped here Monday and taken into custody.

On information from the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Securities company, Assistant District Attorney Clinlin arrested Rudolph Cohn who was attempting to dispose of $30,000 of notes to the institution. Clinlin said the notes, which were signed "W. W. Davis" of Cleveland, were bogus.

Following Cohn's arrest, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hawkins and J. H. Leet, all of Cleveland, were taken into custody.

MARINES SENT TO CENTRAL AMERICA TO ENFORCE ORDER

Leathernecks Will Be on Hand in Case of Trouble in Latin Countries.

By Raymond Clapper.
By United Press Leased Wire.
Washington, D. C.—The use of force in settling the Panama-Costa Rica dispute is not anticipated by this government, it was officially said at the state department Monday.

The sending of marines, it was stated, is purely a precautionary measure and it is even doubted whether it will be necessary to land them near the disputed territory.

Washington, D. C.—American marines aboard the dreadnaught Pennsylvania are on the high seas Monday heading for Central America, to see that the verdict of the United States is carried out in the dispute between Panama and Costa Rica.

The United States has served notice on Panama that this government believes Costa Rica should have the disputed territory of Coto, which is at present held by Panamanian troops.

The dispatch of a battalion of marines, it was said in official circles here is merely a precautionary measure. They will land at the Pacific end of the canal and may be sent up the coast to the Costa Rican boundary.

This action follows long negotiations between the United States and Panama, which began almost immediately after the inauguration of President Harding. Panama had seized the Colon district on the Pacific side in retaliation for occupation by Costa Rica of territory on the Atlantic side assigned her under the award of the late Chief Justice White which Panama disputed. Secretary Hughes protested that dissatisfaction with the award on the Atlantic side should be no excuse for seizure by Panama of the Pacific territory which was assigned to Costa Rica under the League decision which Panama accepted as fair.

WOMAN IS CHARGED WITH OLD MURDER

By United Press Leased Wire.
Tacoma, Wash.—Mrs. William H. Stubbs was under arrest here Monday, held for the Knoxville, Tenn., authorities, suspected of being Maude Moore of Knoxville, who was convicted there more than two years ago on charges of murdering Leroy D. Barth, automobile dealer.

The arrest was made after a photograph, sent here by the Knoxville authorities, was alleged to have been identified as that of Maude Moore.

Mrs. Stubbs declared she was innocent and said she was ready to fight extradition or any attempt to force her to face a murder charge.

Maude Moore was convicted in March, 1920, according to local police, of shooting to death Leroy Barth at a lonely spot on the road outside of Knoxville, Sept. 8, 1919. She was convicted and sentenced to 21 years imprisonment. She secured a new trial and was released on $10,000 bonds which were forfeited when she disappeared.

BLAMES RESERVE BOARD FOR COTTON DEPRESSION

By United Press Leased Wire.
Washington, D. C.—The present depression in the cotton districts of the south has been caused by the "artificial deflation," forced by the federal reserve board, J. P. Warburg, president of the Southern Cotton Growers' association, Monday told the congressional committee investigating agricultural conditions.

Auto Industry Booming After Short Depression

By United Press Leased Wire.
New York.—The automobile industry, following a brief period of depression, is booming again.

Continued increase in the demand for motor transportation is accepted as an "index to the return of industry generally to sound conditions," John C. Long, secretary of the educational department of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, told the United Press Monday.

Long said in the second quarter of this year, more than double the number of passenger cars and a third more trucks were manufactured than in the first quarter.

"The continued increase in the demand for motor transportation, along with the increase in the business of rail lines, is an index of the return of the industry generally to sound conditions, in the opinion of automobile manufacturers," he said.

Reports from automobile companies to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce show that in the second quarter of 1921 the volume of business equalled 87 per cent of the same period in 1920. One of the makers is operating at 138 per cent of the 1920 basis, while the average of the other companies is 85 per cent.

Long emphasized that "this return of activity in the third largest industry is expected to stimulate other lines of business. This, he said, is expected to be felt strongly in the third quarter.

"The automobile industry itself employs more than 300,000 men in its factories, with as many more in accessory plants," he pointed out.

"The 35,000 dealers in the country employ 100,000 salesmen.

"There are 9,200,000 cars in use. Replacement business alone amounts to hundreds of thousands a year."

Method Of Making Peace With Germany Depends On Course Germans Take

German Government May Force
Harding to Resubmit Versailles Treaty With Reservations, to U. S. Senate for Approval.

By David Lawrence.
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—The strategy behind the United States government's negotiations with Germany over the making of a new peace treaty is just coming to light. It is one of the most interesting inside stories which official Washington has developed since the war.

The truth is President Harding and Secretary Hughes have been loath to announce to the world that the plan whereby congress was to make peace by resolution is after all ineffective. The executive branch of the government is finding out that it alone carries the burden of making peace with Germany and that the Germans are not jumping through the hoop at the mere nod of Washington but are actually asking for a voice in making the treaty—a procedure in contrast to the moments at Versailles when the German delegates into the room and commanded them to sign on the dotted line.

When congress passed the joint resolution declaring peace, it was believed that peace had been accomplished and that a formal proclamation of peace would follow in the natural course of events. The department of state opposed such a course putting up the argument that if America announced by proclamation that she is at peace with Germany the last card, so to speak, and would have no leverage upon Germany in the negotiations of a peace treaty. So the proclamation has been held up pending the outcome of the parleys between American Commissioner Drexel in Berlin and the German government.

White House is Silent.

But that isn't all. For weeks the White house and state department have been reticent about the negotiations and significantly enough details have been made of various stories as to whether the Versailles treaty would be resubmitted. Members of the irreconcilable group in the senate have stated positively their conviction that the Versailles treaty wouldn't be resubmitted to the senate. But the truth of the matter, it now appears, is that nobody in the senate or even the executive branch of the government can be sure what the course of the American government will have to be. The Germans alone have the answer. And this why:

The American commissioner in Berlin approaches the German government and says in effect: "The American congress has just passed a resolution of peace in which the right of the United States under the Versailles treaty must be safeguarded. That's an instruction from congress which we can't ignore. Now we know it will take months to work out a new treaty with all the important clauses of the Versailles treaty retained so we suggest a temporary arrangement or agreement in which Germany pledges herself to make a treaty later with the United States in which the rights given American under the Versailles treaty are retained by America."

In other words, the United States has tried to get a reaffirmation of the Versailles treaty in advance of the negotiation of a formal treaty of peace with Germany. If Germany declines, then America simply says: "Don't forget we signed the Versailles pact and we can simply ratify it with reservations that exclude the League of Nations covenant and Shantung and we still maintain intact all the economic and reparations clauses which relate to our rights."

Two Courses Open.

Should Germany, therefore, decline to make an agreement pledging America all the rights which the United States originally obtained at Paris, then the Versailles pact must be resubmitted with reservations. The Germans are confronted with an alternative. They do not imagine that an irreconcilable group in the United States Senate will fight to the death any plan to resubmit the Versailles treaty, but, on the other hand, even the irreconcilable group will have to bow to the inevitable if President Harding and Secretary Hughes announce that no other course is open to America to get peace with Germany. If the German government, on the other hand, approves the memorandum handed her by American Commissioner Drexel for a temporary peace agreement, which is to precede the making of a new treaty later on, the embarrassment of the Harding administration will have been eliminated. Word from Berlin is eagerly awaited anxiously awaiting for it will tell the story of whether a separate peace is feasible or whether the Versailles pact will have to be revived.

Expected American Aid Dublin—Many Americans are will fight for Ireland in the event of hostilities being resumed," declared Harry Boland, secretary to De Valera, in an interview Monday.

"America favors peace between England and Ireland and approves the claim of a separate Irish nation," he said.

CONGRESS FACING TREMENDOUS TASK

By United Press Leased Wire.
Washington, D. C.—Here is the legislative Republican congress leaders hope to pass before the vacation recess due to start Wednesday.

The anti-her bill.

The measure enabling the war finance corporation to aid in export of farm products.

The Copper-Tincher bill to prevent gambling in grain futures.

Extension of the dye embargo in the emergency tariff for three months.

Imposition of a 30 per cent duty on all surplus war supplies sold at here early Monday, were still being their threatened march into Minnesota back to the United States.

Deficiency appropriation for the disarmament conference and the shipping board.

Action on the administration's railroad and foreign debt refunding bills will be delayed until after recess.

PHOENIX SUFFERS BIG LOSS IN FLOOD

By United Press Leased Wire.
Phoenix, Ariz.—Flood waters, which inundated the state capital grounds and flooded basements and lower floors of state buildings, receded rapidly Monday. Records were saved. Damage to all property in Phoenix by the flood was estimated at less than $150,000 due to rapid drops of the water.

Reports early Monday were that the water was two to three feet deep over most of the rich cotton and alfalfa lands lying between Phoenix and Glendale, 12 miles away.

The flood waters were carrying a heavy deposit of silt washed from the unprotected sides of the numerous arroyos and waterways. Two irrigation canals, through which water is brought from the famous Roosevelt dam to irrigate the valley around Phoenix, broke during the night under the weight of the water. Water from these canals flooded the northwest section of Phoenix with approximately one foot of water.

PREDICTS DECREASE IN FREIGHT RATE ON GRAIN

By United Press Leased Wire.
St. Paul, Minn.—Freight rates on grain from farms to terminals probably will be reduced soon.

This was the opinion of Ivan Rowland, state railroad and warehouse commissioner, who returned Monday from Washington where a hearing on such rates was held by the interstate commerce commission.

Eleven states of the middle west had farmer representatives at the hearing to protest present high freight rates.

YAEGER TO FACE 12 WHO SAW BANK BANDIT

Police Confident Man Arrested at Chippewa Falls Robbed
Outagamie Bank.

FIVE ROBBERS ARRESTED
Bank Officials Say All But Two of Wisconsin Robberies
Have Been Solved.

By United Press Leased Wire.
Chippewa Falls, Wis.—Lawrence Lesperance and Chalmers Yaeger, alleged to have robbed the Wabeno, Wis., State bank of $32,000, left here Monday under heavy guard for Appleton. They were accompanied by Chief of Police Prim of Appleton and Sheriff Robert Miller of Forest county, with E. P. Cunningham, special agent of the Wisconsin Bankers' association.

At Appleton, a controversy between Chief of Police Prim and Sheriff Miller as to who shall keep the prisoners will be settled.

Sheriff Miller wants to take both to Oshkosh to stand trial for the Wabeno robbery. Chief of Police Prim wants both returned to Appleton for the Outagamie State bank robbery in which $3,000 in loot was taken. The party is expected to reach Appleton late Monday.

Chalmers Yaeger, believed to be the lone bandit who robbed the Outagamie County bank July 21 and Lawrence Lesperance, his alleged accomplice in the robbery here and at Wabeno, were to arrive in Appleton Monday afternoon accompanied by Sheriff S. J. Melville and deputies of Chippewa county. The party made the trip from Eau Claire by automobile and was to arrive here about 5 P. M.

The robbery party was accompanied by Detective J. W. Cunningham of the Wisconsin Bankers' association who brought about the arrest of the two men and Chief George T. Prim who left for Eau Claire Sunday.

Immediately after their arrival at the police station, the process of identification of the prisoners was to begin. Joseph Dohr, and Miss Monica Kraft, whom the bandit forced into the vault when he robbed the bank, were the first persons asked to look at Yaeger. Immediately after, the Rev. Father Basil Gummerman and nine other persons who are positive they saw the escaping bandit, will be asked to say whether Yaeger was the man they saw walking toward Jones park immediately after the robbery.

While evidence will be given the statement of those outside the bank who are believed to have seen the prisoner, authorities stated that the whole matter depends upon the statements of Mr. Dohr and Miss Kraft. Officials were confident they have the right men in custody following positive identification of photographs sent here Saturday.

12 Saw Bandit.

Since the robbery occurred a month ago, Chief Prim has conducted a thorough investigation to find persons who actually saw the man who committed the robbery. Twelve persons were found who declared they saw the bandit and their descriptions of him were found to tally.

The police believe that the testimony of the twelve will decide whether a shadow of doubt whether the men are guilty. Since their apprehension, Yaeger and Lesperance have been subjected to a close grilling by Detective Cunningham and other officers. Whether the two have divulged any incriminating information has not been disclosed.

CROWD EAGER TO SEE MADALYNE ON WAY TO COURT

Los Angeles, Calif.—Arrangement of Arthur C. Burch and Madalynne Obenchain on charges of murdering John Belton Kennedy, was again postponed Monday.

On motion of Attorney Warren Williams, representing the two defendants, the arraignment was set for August 29 by Judge Reeve.

Through a crowd of "murder fans" lined fifteen to twenty deep along Buena Vista street, the "street of sighs," Mrs. Obenchain walked from the county jail to the court room.

Burch was taken directly from the one building to the other over the "bridge of sighs." Women are never taken across the bridge, which leads from the men's quarters of the jail. More than 2,000 persons lined the little street to watch Mrs. Obenchain pass. A horde of boxes was thrown across the walk near the jail door to aid the police detail in keeping the crowd back.

A dozen arraignments and motions by attorneys for other prisoners were heard before the arraignment of Burch and Mrs. Obenchain came up. Ralph Obenchain alternately talked with the defense attorneys and Madalynne and Burch.

Mrs. Obenchain and Burch appeared in excellent spirits. Obenchain refused to allow photographers to snap Mrs. Obenchain at random and said he would get a court order if necessary to back him up.

The arraignment was postponed, it is understood, because of the fact that Attorney Paul Schenk could not return to Los Angeles from Arizona until today.

FOUR WOMEN AND FIVE MEN IN BANDIT GANG

Chicago, Ill.—A bandit gang composed of five men and four women Monday locked Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zehrer up in a bathroom and ransacked their home of $800 in jewelry and cash.

Zehrer was beaten into unconsciousness when he jumped from a window to notify police.

Woman Is Slain Because She Is True To Husband

By United Press Leased Wire.
Porterville, Calif.—Fidelity to her husband cost the life of Mrs. Ermin Bachman, authorities declared Monday. She was shot and killed by Walter H. Alexander, according to the story told officials by Bachman, when she chose to live with her husband rather than go with Alexander.

Posses are searching the hills for Alexander.

The shooting occurred at Poplar, a small town near Porterville.

According to the story told the sheriff by Bachman, Alexander had been forcing all her attentions upon Mrs. Bachman. He said Alexander forced the husband and wife to accompany him to Poplar and there, at the point of a gun, commanded Mrs. Bachman to choose between her husband and herself.

Mrs. Bachman protested her love for and her loyalty to her husband and Alexander was alleged to have shot and killed her instantly.

Alexander, Bachman declared, then walked slowly away, Bachman evidently being too overcome to follow him.

150 PAS AND MAS VISITED SONS AT BOY SCOUT CAMP

Youngsters Show Parents How They Are Enjoying Life at Camp Onaway.

One hundred fifty fathers and mothers of Appleton Boy Scouts were Sunday guests of their sons in the first annual "pa and ma day" event ever held at the summer camp at Onaway Island near Waubesa.

Parents of the boys began to arrive in camp about 11 o'clock Sunday forenoon and the arrival of visitors continued steadily until late in the afternoon. Many visitors from other towns and cities also participated in the event and several hundred people witnessed the athletic events which featured the afternoon.

Luncheon was served the guests in the camp mess hall but many held parties at other places about the camp. Parents expressed satisfaction with the way in which the camp is being conducted and the benefit which their boys are deriving from it. A large number remained through the afternoon and had supper at the camp returning by auto late in the evening.

A baseball game between the fathers and sons opened the afternoon's program and the fathers won. After the game the scouts were divided into two platoons, under the direction of Harry Colvin and William Gurey, and a boat race in "war canoes" between two convenient lake piers was staged.

Swimming Exhibition

After the boating all the scouts participated in a swimming exhibition. Expert swimmers were called upon to perform fancy diving and a few of the fancy strokes in swimming. Harry Colvin demonstrated several methods of life-saving.

It was a busy day for the scouts. Extremely early in the morning they were "rolled out" for their morning dip. Following a few paddles in the loading water and a brisk rub-down they were ready to begin preparations for the proper reception of their fathers and mothers.

After breakfasting and putting the camp in shape they were hurried off to church. Every boy was required to attend his own church. Some went to Waubesa churches and a large number attended the morning services at the soldiers' home.

Both parents and scouts consider the event successful and it is said plans will be made later to make "pa and ma day" an annual affair.

Menasha Resident Complains

Mrs. Bergstrom, Menasha resident who lives on what is known as Matheson's point is again complaining that the hunters who hunt in her vicinity are disturbing her in the peaceful and quiet enjoyment of her property. Mrs. Bergstrom has had trouble of this nature several times in the past and claims that a city ordinance was passed prohibiting hunting on or near the point. There is some doubt as to the validity of the ordinance, however, in view of an opinion rendered recently by the attorney general declaring one free to fish and hunt at will anywhere on the lake. This would leave the hunters free to shoot from the lake and nothing has been done about the matter as yet.

Roy O'Connor one of the employees of the Brighton Beach resort disappeared on Sunday evening. ## NIGHT BLOOMING CERESUS ATTRACTS ATTENTION SUNDAY

A beautiful night blooming cereus which opened about 8:30 Sunday evening at the J. J. Hauert home at 851 Lawrence-st., attracted a group of about 50 persons who admired the perfect flower. The plant was on the porch and was not expected to bloom before Monday. It opened up while the family was at church. It was so fragrant that it scented the whole house with its perfume although it was outdoors.

The plant is ten years old and has been blooming regularly once a year for the last three years. It usually blossoms in August. A remarkable thing about this species of plant is that it has to be seven years old before it will blossom.

20 CALF BREEDERS GIVEN FREE TRIPS TO WISCONSIN FAIR

Thirty-two Calves Are Displayed in First Annual Calf Roundup Here.

Twenty proud young farmer boys and girls were selected at the First National bank calf club roundup in Oneida-st. parking square Saturday afternoon to go to the Wisconsin state fair in Milwaukee this month with all expenses paid. The six best calves out of thirty-two displayed were picked by Prof. R. S. Hulce, Madison, to be exhibited at the fair.

section of the roundup. His calf heads the list of eight which Prof. Hulce singled out for being the best for type, build and general characteristics. The others, in order of rank as to quality, were owned by Glen Anderson, George Taitor, Armin Dobberstein, Hilda Taitor, Clarence Schroeder, Adeline Taitor and Arnold Mising. The last two are alternates whose calves will be sent if any of the others might not go, and will be given the trip whether the animals are shipped.

Of the four Guernsey calves exhibited the one owned by Dale Kirkin took first place, Wesley Lohrenz second and Wade Letts third. The first two named will be given the Milwaukee trip but their calves will not be exhibited.

Prof. Hulce spent more than an hour selecting the show animals. He then reclassified the animals according to the care and training they had received and selected ten more winners for the paid trip to the fair. These were: Howard Dobberstein, Raymond DeLuft, Harry Wundrow, Wilbert J. Lee, Martin Stecker, John Schaefer, James Schaefer, Dorothy Laird, Mary Wasserbach and Barney Van-Handel.

Pleased With Interest
R. S. Powell, president of the bank, delivered a brief talk to the juvenile dairymen saving the officers and directors were gratified at the interest shown by the club members in their calves and hoped the responsibility they had undertaken would mean larger accomplishments in the future. He also expressed his appreciation for the interest the city of Appleton had taken in this movement for better breeding. Mr. Powell then announced how ten farms had crystallized this interest by offering to send 15 boys and girls to the fair beside the 6 which the bank was sending with their calves. Prof. Hulce had a difficult task in judging the animals. Mr. Powell said, but he felt confident the judge could explain his placings readily.

The roundup was unique and was the first in the history of Appleton. Each animal was brushed and groomed, and horns and hoofs polished. Spectators remarked they had never seen a finer collection of calves in one group, all purebreds of sturdy type and breeding.

Asks About Pool
Appleton's municipal swimming pool has attracted the attention of the chamber of commerce of Chatham, Ont., which has written the Appleton Chamber of Commerce seeking information about its construction, cost and method of maintenance. The data are being compiled by Miss Mabel Sibley, acting secretary.

"Perfect 36" No Longer Regarded As Perfection

"Chicken" Sizes Succeeding Venus Shapes, Appleton Merchants Say.

Poor Venus de Milo who has occupied the throne as the "perfect 36" for eons and eons has fallen from her high estate. The "perfect 36" is perfect no longer. The question of who shall succeed her is a matter of controversy and the local merchants present various opinions on the subject.

"The 'perfect 36' is out of date," declared H. L. Dawson of the Burton-Dawson Co. "We never hear of it in the city markets. In fact all of the models are shown in the 16 and 18 year 'chicken' sizes. They get the prettiest girls they can find to wear them at the fashion shows. These models are made much more youthful and snappy than the '36' or '38'. They are made with shorter waists and the suits have shorter coats. We don't keep more than six '36s' in stock. They are hard to sell."

Miss Fisher of the Kaufman shop said that she found that the 'perfect 36' is a thing of the past. The youthful and snappy garments come in the 'chicken' models or 14, 16 and 18 year sizes.

"When you come to a '42' or so you notice that the garments are made more tailored and severe, rather than youthful. It is much more difficult to sell a tailored garment than one of the more girlish type," said Miss Fisher. "We sell ever so many more small size dresses than large. In coats however, a large woman might wear and '18' because they are made so loose."

Mrs. Finnegan of the Goheen Dry Goods Co., said that women have much larger waists than they had formerly when the "wasp" waist was in vogue. She said the old rule was that the waist should measure 13 inches smaller than the bust. Now there is no rule because since women have become accustomed to wearing looser clothing, the waists have increased in dimensions and the hips have decreased accordingly. Mrs. Finnegan believes that the "36" is the standard size because the average woman can wear it, and therefore it doesn't require as much alteration as another size might.

"We sell four or five times as many garments in the 16 and 18 year sizes as in the '42' or '46'," said Miss Grundy of the Cloudehans-Gage Co. The "38" represents the peak of our sales and they taper off in both directions. We find that women of the leisure class can wear the small models best while women who do housework and perhaps outside work also, have overdeveloped upper arms which make them more difficult to fit."

EAU CLAIRE GETS 1922 GATHERING OF REALTOR BODY

Steinberg Says Convention Feb. 21, 22 and 23 Will Be Biggest Ever Held.

Eau Claire is to be given the 1922 convention of the Wisconsin Association of Real Estate Brokers and the dates are to be February 21, 22 and 23.

This announcement was made by Daniel P. Steinberg, following a conference with members of the executive committee of the association. The program is to be arranged by the committee, but the entertainment is left to the Eau Claire Real Estate board, of which L. E. Gerde is president.

Four Wisconsin cities sought the convention, but the persistency of the Eau Claire Civic and Commerce association and business men supplementing the efforts of the local board won the decision.

With the membership of the association increased 40 per cent since the last convention, the gathering is to be the biggest ever held by the realtors. With Milwaukee Real Estate board added recently, almost all legitimate real estate brokers in Wisconsin are members, including 21 organized boards and 3 others on the application list.

FARMERS ANGERED AT FOOD THIEVES

Produce Raisers Bait Traps for Men Who Raid Their Farms.

Pillaging of fields and orchards by autoists has become almost a fad in Outagamie-co. So much stealing of produce is being done that farmers are seeking some method to punish the offenders and teach the public that stealing is stealing, whether it be fruits of the field or money from a bank.

Automobiles go through the country at night, find a cornfield, melon patch or apple orchard. The men help themselves to whatever they can obtain while women sit in the cars and laugh, acting as guards at the same time.

One farmer who planted corn outside his fence found that not an ear remained on four long rows nearest the road after the corn had ripened. Boys on bicycles also are seen going to the country and coming back with sacks filled with produce.

Vigilance is being kept by many farmers in an effort to obtain license numbers of machines used by the thieves, or to catch the pillagers red-handed. They hope to make several arrests as a warning to others.

13 DEFECTIVE CHILDREN ARE FOUND IN COUNTY

Only 13 children in Outagamie-co were reported as "defective" by school district clerks in their annual reports to County Superintendent Florence Jenkins.

These reports show that two children in the country are mentally deficient, three are crippled, six are deaf and dumb and two are blind. Their ages range from 8 to 18 years. Pursuant to law, the county superintendent is now making a report of the individual cases to the state superintendent, who will make arrangements for the entrance of these children into special institutions, provided by the state, if the parents or guardians so desire.

FORDNEY ON THE TAX BILL
The speech of Mr. Fordney in the house last week threw little light on the tax bill which he assumed to discuss, or on anything else unless it was on his own theory of politics, in regard to which there was a charmingly naive revelation. Having charged that President Wilson had taken over the railroads "for political purposes only," and put them in charge of "his son-in-law McAdoo, whom he was grooming for the presidency," it very naturally occurred to a Democratic member to ask Mr. Fordney why he himself had voted for federal control of the roads. Then came the revelation: "I voted to put the president in a hole, and we did it." Later, he explained that this amazing statement had been made "jokingly." It was a wretched joke, and moreover, Mr. Fordney has no reputation as a humorist—rather the contrary. No droller remark could be imagined, whether it be taken as a joke or not. If the motive was such as the speaker said that it was, most men would have kept it locked up in the inmost recesses of their mind. If such was not the motive few men would have said that it was even "jokingly." We fear that the statement must be taken as a confession that the man who made it voted for a policy that he believed to be wrong, and did so at a time when the nation was in danger, simply for the purpose of putting "the president in a hole."

Little was said in the speech about the bill under consideration, the speaker himself saying that his speech was "a little about the bill and a whole lot about the Democratic party." It seems, after all, that the real bill had been to put the Republican party "in a hole." For Fordney said the extravagance of the Democrats had forced the Republican administration to go to the country and ask for money to pay for these extravagances. It seems that the checks taken by the former president on the George Washington are still a government liability and a political asset. The speech will not much help the country to make up its mind about the tax bill. Nor it must be added, will the speech of Mr. Garner, leader of the opposition, be of great service in that way.

However, as the bill will never become a law without substantial amendment, perhaps the speakers felt that they were not called on to discuss it seriously and exhaustively. At any rate they did not do so. It was known further that the bill would come to a vote in the house last Saturday afternoon, and that it was certain to pass, in spite of all criticism—however just that might be made of it. So the debate was mostly perfunctory, or else purely partisan, and on both sides the purpose being to accumulate capital to be used in the congressional campaign of next year. The really important point seems to have been altogether overlooked, and that is whether the reductions made by the bill, contrary to the advice of Secretary Mellon, are real reductions, or simply reductions made for campaign purposes, to be made good by future borrowings.

TEMPERAMENTS AND TENNIS
"The Wonder Girl," American tennis champion, took the world's championship away from "Suzanne the Supreme" in the court in Forest Hills, N. Y., a few days ago. Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, "The Wonder Girl," had won a set from Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the French maiden who held the world's championship, and "Suzanne the Supreme," who had been ill, grew hysterical and tragic-dramatically defaulted the honor and title to her rival.

Several years ago "The Wonder Girl" was invincible. A few months ago she voyaged to Europe and was outclassed by Suzanne. "The Supreme" twice defeated Mrs. Mallory. Suzanne was heralded as the most marvelous tennis player of the age, and up to the loss of the first set at Forest Hills to Mrs. Mallory she had won every set in two years.

Mlle. Lenglen was seized with a coughing fit at the beginning of the second set in Monday's game, and taking Mrs. Mallory by the hand, she drew the latter up to the empire and surrendered the game by default. "Mrs. Mallory," a press account says, "petted her, and she walked off the court, her face a cloud of black grimace."

As "Suzanne the Supreme" had paused, for a moment, in the course of the first set, in apparent distress from illness, it cannot be stated positively that she gave vent to hysteria. One expert who witnessed the game said that she played the first set at her best; another said she was still supreme. Mrs. Mallory, it was said, resented the attentions paid by the press to Mlle. Lenglen, and the writers said that the ladies were displeased with Suzanne's theatrical manner on the courts, and they stood about her and spoke contemptuously of "quitting." Mrs. Mallory was described as being stolid and determined.

Tennis is one of the most strenuous of all games, requiring quick mental action, dexterity, agility and endurance. As a physical exercise it is unsurpassed. It is also a very popular play. The narratives of the Forest Hills contest denote that tennis is also a game of temperaments when women compete for the world's championship. For the women it is a play of emotions.

SUBSTANTIAL IMPROVEMENT OF BUSINESS
Reliable statements received from all parts of the United States are so unanimous and conclusive regarding the invigoration of commerce in the past three or four weeks as to justify confidence in a comparatively early revival of commerce on a solid and lasting basis. When commerce does lift its stride, and this promises to be not far distant in the future, it is probable that an era of record prosperity will be inaugurated.

Jobbers and retailers agree that trade for the rest of the year will be fair. Exportation of grain, arrangements for financing and credit for the exportation of cotton, and organization of a pool to take care of cattle raisers are real causes for confidence. Whereas business may be several weeks behind its usual flourishing season, the marketing of grain and cotton, with indications of an unexpectedly large and insistent demand for these products, appears to be a guarantee of large trade in agricultural districts and easier financial conditions for farm men.

September and October, according to signs, should develop a fair volume of trade, and it seems to be likely that there will be steady, belated business of some proportions in November and December. The outlook for jobbing and retailing warrants optimism. Business for the rest of this year promises to be satisfactory.

Developments during the next few months in completing general liquidation in manufacture will prepare the way for a great industrial revival. There has been considerable improvement since the first of this month in the state of manufacture. Federal statistics show that of the 5,735,000 persons who are said to be out of employment, 3,900,000 are skilled and unskilled workmen in the industrial and mechanical industries, and the building trades, and 250,000 are mine workers, that is, approximately four-fifths of them are connected with manufacture.

The danger point was passed a few months ago, and from this time forward there is every reason for the firmest and surest optimism. The improvement in business has been substantial and remarkable, and it is permanent and will be progressive. We are nearing the point when commerce will begin to thrive on a large scale. There may be another brief lull, but there is no longer any reason to doubt that business will improve steadily.

MIRAGE IN NEVADA DESERT.
One morning in a Nevada desert I sat watching a moving mirage show its scenes—nature after picture. Occasionally one would appear or left in front of or behind the preceding one. Some were retained in place much longer than others. They were brought clear and shown as distinct before back.

One scene was of a great number of wagons with three or four loads each. They were lined along two or three tracks, round in a circle and across two or three typical sand dunes. I started at the scene in astonishment. They stopped as though to camp by the mirage lake. A camp fire appeared. I rubbed my face. I was awake. I saw objects moving about the wagon and the fire.

Two coyotes came trotting along near me. They saw the camp and after a few steps of looking with head to one side they stopped in front of me to watch it. I rose up better to watch them. They had either not seen me or had forgotten my presence in their eager concentration on the camp scene. Another lone horse, as though left behind, came lagging up. The mirage watched this moving horse, and when it was alone, it was seeing. Smoke rose above the camp fire, but the wagon, then the picture melted and only the bare desert shimmered before us—Enos A. Mills, in Saturday Evening Post.

Trapped.
"Cross examined, the defendant said he had merely kissed the young woman in the case under a sprig of mistletoe. 'Ah! A clever defense. What did his wife say to that?' 'She snuffed hard enough to be heard in the corridors of the courthouse, and begged to be taken to the rear of a side of mistletoe suspended over us roadster.'"—Birmingham Age Herald.

MIGRAINE.
Periodic attacks of "migraine" or sick headache are frequently a feature in the family history. Deep students of the subject have called migraine the "sensory equivalent" of epilepsy; that is to say, one member of a family has epileptic seizures of one type or another, while some other member of the family will suffer with periodic migraine seizures. Both diseases seem to present no visible pathology; nothing to explain the disease is discoverable post-mortem. Both diseases have an "aura" or warning; some peculiar sensation or feeling by which the victim knows a seizure is imminent.

A few years ago one of the foremost American abdominal surgeons announced the discovery of what he believed the cause of epilepsy namely, a bacillus which normally inhabits the intestinal tract of man and animals, and which is "forced" into the blood by the increased pressure in the intestine which happens to be partly characterized by some kind of adhesion or other condition causing stasis. In short, the surgeon believed that intestinal stasis was a usual cause of epileptic seizures, and this belief was the result of several incidents. In operating for the relief of such cases of intestinal stasis he discovered that a considerable number of the patients who happened to suffer from epilepsy were greatly improved or cured after the stasis was overcome by surgery.

We have an endless number of theoretical explanations and theoretical remedies for sick headache. I am speaking now of actual treatment of the disease, and not mere relief of the attack. X-ray observation of the digestion, a blinching test, meal has demonstrated the presence of a stasis in a goodly majority of all cases of migraine or sick headache. An incompetent ileo-cecal valve is often found, and this condition permits the residue of the cecum (large bowel) to back up into the ileum (small bowel), where absorption is very active, thus producing marked intoxication of the system. This is not wholly theoretical, but a demonstrable state of affairs. The cure of the stasis brings great relief and perhaps permanent cure of the sick headaches.

All victims of this distressing malady know that constipation favors attacks, and that a cathartic tends to ward off or abort an attack. Many victims have discovered that a strict vegetarian diet gives great relief. A few have assured us that six somersaults night and morning have practically cured them—the somersaults get the food residue out of the corner pockets.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
What the Blood is Counted For.
Question—What does a "blood count" determine? (A. H. B.)
Answer—It determines the number of red corpuscles per cubic millimeter of blood, the number of white corpuscles and the relative proportions of the different types of white corpuscles. Counting the red corpuscles enables the physician to diagnose the kind of anemia present, if any. Counting the white corpuscles tells him various things, such as whether there is any serious inflammation or abscess formation in the body, whether there is parasitic infection (tapeworms, trichina, etc.) and whether certain types of primar yamela are present.

Foot Pains.
Question—I have a most disagreeable tingle in my right foot at the base of the second and third toes, which sometimes causes sudden severe pain. Any pressure on the ends of the toes is unendurable. What can be done for such trouble? (M. J.)
Answer—We have discovered just one kind of ready-made footwear which incorporates the essential principles of foot hygiene, namely, an inward veering last, widely rounded toes, and reasonable wide bases of heel support. Sometimes your trouble can be relieved by wearing a 2"x1"x1" beveled pad of felt or soft leather upon the ball of the foot, lengthwise.

Twenty-Five Years Ago
Monday, Aug. 24, 1896.
Chester Murphy of Hortonville, was an Appleton visitor.

Thad Clifton was home on a several days' visit with his parents, Edward and Mary, at Hortonville. Sister Mrs. Edgewood Villa, Madison, was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Perrenboom.

Mr. and Mrs. Jagodnick returned from a two weeks' visit at LaCrosse.

Denton Wharton and James Scott rode to Green Bay on their wheels, making the 30-mile trip in one hour and fifty-seven minutes.

The Misses Ivy and Edith Ryan and Stella Morgan went to Green Bay on the steamer Evelyn and returned home on their wheels.

Schaefer & Barrett received three White Flyers, one a special racing wheel for W. B. Murphy, whose name appeared on the top tube.

Harry Ferguson and Bert O'Keefe rode to Green Lake on a tandem. Returning they took a train home at Oshkosh.

Mr. and Mrs. William Scherok celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage.

Frank A. Wolman, 62, died of blood poisoning the day previous.

Paper mills were being operated by steam, no water being permitted to come down the river except for navigation purposes.

A light frost, the first of the season, damaged vegetation the night previous.

Mrs. Peter Thom was called to Norwich, Conn., by the death of her father, James Watt.

B. J. Zuehlke tendered his resignation as deputy registrar of deeds, a position he had filled for two years.

GREAT TUN OF HEIDELBERG.
The construction of the great tun of Heidelberg, in the castle of the Princes Palatine of the Rhine, was begun in 1559 and was not finished until more than two years later.

It was composed of beams 27 feet long and had a diameter of 13 feet. The tun hooping was 1,100 pounds in weight, and the cost, figured in our money, was nearly $12,000. It could hold 528 hogsheads and the value at that time of the wine it contained was in the neighborhood of $10,000.

When the cellar drew wine out of the cask he ascended several flights of wooden stairs leading to the top; about the middle was a bung-hole, into which was inserted an instrument made in the form of a spout, with which the wine was drawn up and placed in a vessel provided for the purpose.

There was another tun built, evidently succeeding the one just described, in 1751; this was 38 feet long and 24 feet high, with a capacity of 800 hogsheads, or 232,200 bottles. This cask has not been in use since the latter part of the Eighteenth century.

AMUSING OLD TALES.
Dr. Fludd, the Rosicrucian, told of an Italian nobleman who lost a great part of his nose in a duel. A piece of flesh cut from the arm of a slave was applied in remedy. The part that belonged to the nobleman's arm was cut off by the advice of physicians. Flesh was taken from his own arm applied. He rejoiced in his new nose until he, too, died. See Edmond About's ingeniously amusing romance, "The Nose of a Notary," also Sir Kenelm Digby's "Discourse Concerning Power of Sympathy" (1660).

Old Crops And New
By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington.—The little known but highly useful government function of scientific exploration is being exercised by the department of agriculture in order that the bread of plants in the United States may be improved, and that dependence upon foreign countries for any kind of foodstuffs may be minimized as far as possible. Exploration for plants and subsequent introduction of them into the United States is almost continually going on.

The greatest amount of this work is for edible crop plants and trees, but at least one exploration was for furthering the development of chalmugra trees, with a view to growing them in some of America's island possessions, in order that the valuable oil, essential to the treatment of leprosy, may be obtained from domestic sources. Another man is about to be sent out by the department of agriculture to pursue the chalmugra investigations. These trees are native to Siam, but it is hoped that they may be made to grow and thrive in some of the islands of the Hawaiian group.

The plant explorations are of two kinds, one where the federal explorer is sent out with instructions to specialize on one thing, and the other where an explorer is sent to some part of the earth with general instructions to obtain and ship back to Washington specimens and seeds of any useful growth, not native to the United States, which might be made to grow here and produce crops.

One of the department's scientists is now in South America, the main purpose of his explorations there being to discover, if possible, an evocod which will resist cold, to some degree, in order that a sufficient quantity may be grown in the temperate parts of this country to supply the domestic demand. It is true that some of the tropical specimens of this delicious fruit are grown in Florida, but not nearly enough to supply the demand for the "alligator pear," to call it by its popular name. The department has been advised that this scientist discovered an avocodo growing in South America, about the latitude of the equator, but several thousand feet up in the mountains. This species, it is believed, if it can be properly propagated, will fill the demand. The explorations are being continued in the hope that a still harder variety may be found.

Mexico has a plentiful supply of alligator pears, but their importation into the United States is forbidden because of the danger of bringing a dangerous fly pest into this country. Shipping the pears is hazardous, anyhow, as they are prone to rot where they touch each other, and shipments from Central and South America on that account often are small ones carried loose on the decks of vessels.

An Early Importation
The wheat crop of the United States each year is a tremendous one now, and has been for a great many years, yet wheat is not native to North America. Wheat was brought into this country, probably by the very earliest settlers, and has thrived wonderfully. However, the department of agriculture has found it necessary to import high grade Russian wheats to improve the American crop.

Corn is a native of the western world, and the reverse process has taken place with that staple. American corn was taken to Africa many years ago, and has found conditions of climate and soil there so suitable for its growth that African corn is quite as good now as the varieties produced in the United States. The white potato, or Irish potato, is another native of this hemisphere which has been taken to Africa and grown in large numbers. Curiously enough, this potato is known in Africa as the "English potato."

One of the big things for which the department is fighting is to preserve the chestnut trees of this country against the pest which is obliterating them. This pest is a blight which has been destroying the trees for a long time, in spite of every means used to fight it. Finding that fighting the disease was almost useless, plant explorers were sent out to find a chestnut tree somewhere in the world which would grow readily in the United States and resist the blight which has ruined the native American growth. A chestnut tree has been discovered in Japan which will measure up to all of these requirements, it is believed.

Another task in which the department is deeply interested is fighting the blister now destroying the American white pine. This fight has not yet come to the stage of exploration for a new pine which will resist the blister, but that may be the final move to save this lumber growth. The present means of fighting the blister is an heroic measure, based on the known necessities of the pest which causes the blister. This pest is an odd one, spending part of its time on wild currant and gooseberry bushes, and the rest of the time on white pines. The bushes, when the pest is present, develop a yellow mottling of the leaf. In order to try to control the ravages of this insect and save the remnant of the pines, a campaign is being conducted to destroy the gooseberry and currant bushes whenever they are found in the neighborhood of white pines. It is impossible for the department to predict the outcome of this battle.

Plants Go Through Quarantine
After a plant is found which it is desirable to bring into the United States, due to regulations of the department, it must be sent to Washington to the plant quarantine station here. This has been aptly termed the Ellis Island of the horticultural world. The main purpose of this station is to prevent the introduction of new plant diseases into the United States. Each plant brought in must be fumigated and treated for all kinds of diseases, whether traces of parasites are apparent or the plant seems entirely healthy, or not. Sometimes the invisible eggs of pests, ready to many crops may be present, but not detectable even under the microscope.

Despite this fumigation, it is known that there are some plant pests which it is impossible to kill in this way, and therefore no plants which have been brought into the United States are ever allowed to leave the quarantine station except for scientific study of experts who know how to handle them and keep them from harming other growth. From these plants, young plants may be grown which are known to be absolutely free of any sort of pest, and it is from these that crops are propagated.

With seeds, it is possible to kill everything of the parasitical order, and therefore imported seeds are put through the quarantine station, rendered free from every germ of plant disease known to man, and then shipped throughout the country without danger to other crops.

The explorers sent out by the department are all trained horticulturists, and their knowledge must and does go beyond knowledge of plant life of all sorts. It must include an exact knowledge of how to prepare plants for mailing long distances, so that on arrival they will not be shriveled up or rotten. This is an important factor when it is realized that in shipping plants from such points as the interior of Africa or Asia, they may be as much as four or five months in transit before getting into the hands of the proper people in Washington.

THE QUESTION BOX
(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice legal, medical, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake elaborate research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. What is the origin of the word "jazz"? A. B. C.
A. The word "jazz," according to Walter Kingsley, is of African origin. The word has been found in the Creole patois and idiom of New Orleans, where it means "speeding up things." The Creoles adopted it from the negroes and applied it to rudimentary syncopated music.

Q. Should an apple orchard be planted in a slate soil? M. L. R.
A. The department of Agriculture says that it would be a satisfactory practice to plant an apple orchard in slate soil if it is well drained. If you refer to a shale soil, it is only satisfactory when the shale is decomposed deeply enough—avoid a thin shale.

Q. What kind of a climate has Hawaii? H. P.
A. The climate of Hawaii is equable; rarely too warm or too cold; storms are rare. The rainfall varies in the different localities, depending upon the position with regard to the wind and mountains. In general, the climate is healthful and agreeable to Europeans.

Q. When were intoxicating drinks first made? J. H.
A. Intoxicating drinks made from honey, barley, and grapes were known at least 1000 years B. C. and they may have been known 5,000 or 10,000 years B. C.

Q. In how many languages does the American Bible Society print the Bible? C. R.
A. The American Bible Society publishes the Bible in 150 different languages.

Q. How many trade dollars were coined and what became of them? W. A. T.
A. The total number of trade dollars coined was 35,965, 924. The number redeemed under the Act of 1887 was 7,639,036, and from the bullion resulting from the melting of these dollars there were coined in subsidiary silver $2,668,674.30 and into standard silver dollars $5,078,472. Since the expiration of the period of redemption trade dollars have been purchased as bullion when presented at the mints.

Q. What will keep flies away from horses and cattle? G. E. B.
A. A good fly repellent is a mixture composed of two gallons crude petroleum, one gallon crude carbolic acid, one gallon oil. This may be applied with a brush.

Q. What is a milk snake? R. W. A.
A. The house or milk snake is a handsome and mid-tempered colorful snake, very abundant in farming districts, where it frequently enters houses, probably in search of mice rather than for the purpose of drinking milk, as is popularly believed.

Q. What is the Torrens System? S. M.
A. A system of registration of titles to real estate introduced by Sir Robert Torrens in Australia, bears his name. This system of official examination and registration of titles has been adopted in Australia, England, New Zealand, British Columbia and parts of Canada. In a modified form it is used in several states of the Union, in Hawaii, and in the Philippines.

MORE PRACTICAL TEXTBOOKS TO BE USED IN SCHOOL

Several Important Changes Are Made in Texts in Use in High School.

A few important changes in text books for the courses in Appleton high school have been announced by Prof. L. C. Rasey. A one year course has been substituted for what has been a two year course in ancient, modern and medieval history. The textbook, "Story of Modern Progress" deals not so much with the details of history, but follows through the principles and events which have most influence on modern life.

Shirley and Reeve's "General Mathematics" is to be used as a textbook for the first year of mathematics to take place of the old first year algebra course. This text is considered the best book to meet the reorganizing of the courses in mathematics as recommended by the National Educational association. It embraces the practical in not only algebra but geometry and trigonometry as well.

Greenburg's "Elementary Biology" which is to be introduced this year is a different type of textbook than the ordinary biology. It lays less emphasis on the scientific phase of the subject and stresses the biology of every day living such as sanitation, air supply, heredity, evolution, use of plants rather than their construction and light and its effect upon man.

The freshmen will use "Stories of the Day's Work" in their English classes. The book includes a group of inspirational stories and essays, poems, letters and some biographies dealing with the lives of successful men. The letters are letters of advice which have been actually written by business men encouraging ambition and aspiration on the part of young people.

33,000 TONS OF COAL SHIPPED FROM GREEN BAY

During the month of July, one-fifth of the coal unloaded at Green Bay docks was distributed among the cities of Appleton, Oshkosh, Kaukauna and Kimberly, according to reports from the docks. About 157,545 tons of coal was received and 33,043 tons was shipped out again.

Of this amount, 139,345 tons was bituminous and 18,200 tons was anthracite coal. The figures given represent a considerable increase over the amount received during the same period last year. Other receipts at the Green Bay port were: 4,500 barrels of cement; 1,200 cords of pulpwood; 100 tons of salt; 35,000 barrels of gasoline and 25 tons of firewood. Clearances from the port were 575 cords of pulpwood, 1,500 bushels of oats and 400 barrels of bran.

One hundred twenty-two steamers and 57 sailing vessels docked at Green Bay during July. The combined capacity of the steamers was 79,398 tons and of the sailers was 11,177 tons. The same number and tonnage of sailing ships cleared from the port during the month and 123 steamers with a combined capacity of 79,398 tons also left port.

EVEN LAWYERS FALL VICTIMS TO CROOK

Appleton lawyers have received warning to be on the watch for a crook who is going about the country swindling lawyers. His plan of operation is to secure stationary of some reputable attorney and write to another attorney of an adjacent town on this stationary, enclosing a deed to be signed by a certain party and also a supposed cashier's check, with the request that when this party calls to execute the deed, the cashier's check be delivered to him, but that a small amount be collected to be remitted to the sending attorney.

The crook then will call for the deed and will plead that to get the amount necessary to remit to the sending attorney it is necessary to cash the cashier's check, and inasmuch as he, the crook, is a stranger he readily secures the indorsement of the attorney on the cashier's check, in order to enable him to collect it.

He will then pay to the attorney the small amount to be remitted to the sending attorney, and make off with the balance. In a few days the check comes back, declared a forgery by the cashier and bank by whom it is pretended to have been drawn.

DUCK HUNTING SEASON WILL OPEN SEPT. 16

Hunters in and around Appleton are taking the first steps in preparation for the annual duck season which will open Sept. 16. Local stores which sell hunting goods have already placed their stock on display. Devotees of the marsh chase expect a much better duck season this year than in 1920 when, on account of mild weather, the ducks flew in small flocks that were widely scattered. The season closes Dec. 10.

Mrs. Verbrück was to join the other delegates at Chicago from which city they were to go in a special car to Omaha. Each court having a membership of 200 or more is entitled to a delegate. There are about 20 from Wisconsin.

STATE FAIR WANTS ARTILLERY BAND

Attracted by the excellent work of the One-hundred Twenty-first Artillery band at Camp Douglas recently, the Wisconsin Fair association has engaged the Appleton musicians to play Aug. 30, 31 and Sept. 1 at the state fair in Milwaukee.

Percy Fullinwider, director, Mike Steinhauser, drum major, and 33 bandmen will make up the band that is to give continuous concerts for the three days. This is the first time such an offer has been made the Appleton players, and is considered a compliment to their ability because only the choicest bands in the state are engaged.

Appleton gained much favorable publicity for itself when thousands of soldiers from all parts of Wisconsin enjoyed the daily programs at Camp Douglas. With thousands attending the state fair every day, the band will be the means of advertising Appleton and securing further recognition for its musical organization.

GET ON SPEAKING TERMS WITH HEALTH

Health Talk No. 55 by James A. Rolfe, D. C.

Many are not on speaking terms with health because they refuse to recognize the fact that the first law of health is a spine in line. All away comes from spinal nerves which omit from between spinal joints. There are twenty-four of these spinal joints that are movable and subject to the disorder that comes from jars or strains due to accident, hard work or bad habits of sitting, standing or walking.

The chiropractor detects the deviations of spinal joints and restores them to correct mechanical alignment. The process of restoration is sometimes slow, sometimes it is comparatively quick. But the inevitable effect of restored alignment is that health comes back.

Chiropractic spinal adjustments free spinal nerves by restoring normal nerve openings and by this simple process chiropractors everywhere are correcting diseases of the eyes, ears, nose, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and genital organs.
